BENGAL LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY DEPARTMENT

NOTIFICATION

No 361T A —14th February 1944 —The following report of the Select Committee on the Bengal Agricultural Income tax Bill 1943 with the Bill embodying amendments recommended by the Committee is hereby published for general information

Report of the Select Committee on the Bengal Agricultural Income-tax Bill, 1943

We the members of the Select Committee to which the Bengal Agricultural Income tax Bill, 1943, was referred by a motion carried in the Bengal Legislative Assembly on the 16th September, 1943, have the honour to submit this our final report with the Bill embodying amendments recommended by us Those matters which have been recommended by us for omission have been printed in italics and enclosed in square brackets and those recommended for new insertion have been underlined

2 The Bill was published before introduction in the Calcutta Gazette, dated the 26th August, 1943

3 The Committee met for the first time on the 8th November 1943 and continued their sittings till the 6th January 1944 with occasional recess But as the deliberations could not be finished by the 21st December 1943 (the date appointed in this behalf by the Assembly) the Chairman of the Committee applied to the Hon ble Speaker for extension of time till the 31st January 1944 which was granted The Committee has now been able to finish their deliberations on the Bill

4 The Bill has not in our opinion been altered by our recommendation to the extent of requiring republication

5 The changes made in the Bill apart from mere formal and technical alterations are as follows —

Preamble —The alterations here are consequential on our subsequent recommendation in the Bill

Clause 2—Sub clause (7a) —We are of opinion that the concept of Hindu undivided family as an unit of assessment is necessary only in the case of such families as are governed by the mitakshara law Hence this definition has been added to restrict the meaning of the term accordingly

Sub clause (8) —This is a drafting change to make the intention clear

Sub-clauses (12a) and (16) —We have considered it desirable to insert a definition of received used with reference to the receipt of the agricultural income by a person and of the term written down value as we consider these necessary in view of alterations suggested by us in the body of the Bill

Sub clause (15) —We have changed the definition of Total world income' to make it more precise

CHAPTER I

Clause 4 —We are of opinion that the agricultural income derived from buildings should be excluded from taxation

The omission of the words deemed to be received is consequential

In modifying sub clause (b) we intend that in the case of partial dedication, the exemption should be limited to that portion of the agricultural income which is actually applied to religious and charitable purposes

CHAPTER II

Clause 5 —The amendments here are of a consequential nature We consider it desirable that there should be two separate heads of account in respect of agricultural income derived from land

Clause 6 —We found it desirable that allowances in respect of agricultural income from rent and revenue and from agriculture should be dealt with in two separate clauses

We have limited the interest allowable under sub clause (2) to such amounts as can be legally charged under the Bengal Money lenders Act 1940

Sub-clauses (4) and (4A) —We have made separate provisions for allowances in respect of current repairs and depreciation Sub-clause (4) has been recast and expanded to make it wide enough to suit the case of the Sundarban landlords and other similarly situated landlords who have to incur large costs to maintain the embankments In sub clause (4A) the allowance for depreciation has been limited to work or assets constructed or acquired after the commencement of the Act

In sub clause (6) we have added a proviso to enable the landlord who gets his accounts properly audited to take advantage of the actual cost We have however, thought it necessary to specify a maximum

We have redrafted sub clause (7)

We have added sub clause (8) to cover all those expenses not specifically provided for but necessary for deriving agricultural income

Clause 7 —We have redrafted this clause in consonance with our earlier recommendations

Sub clause (1) —We have added a proviso to provide for a presumptive cost of cultivation in certain cases

Sub clause (3) —We have considered it necessary to restrict the allowance so that allowance for interest on loans contracted before 1st September, 1941 will be admissible only when the loan is on mortgage and was made for the improvement of the land Allowance for interest on loans contracted after the commencement of the Act will be admissible only if the loan was spent for acquiring or improving the land

Clause 8 —We consider that any determination of the market value of the agricultural produce and any apportionment of a common charge made under the Indian Income tax Act should be accepted We are also of opinion that in the case of agricultural income derived from lands partly in Bengal and partly outside an apportionment on the area basis is unsatisfactory and here also any apportionment under the Indian Income tax Act if available should be accepted We did not consider it expedient or desirable to give the Provincial Government any power as contemplated by the original sub clause (b) of the proviso and have therefore omitted it

Clause 9 —We consider that apportionment for the purpose of this section should be made on the income basis

Clause 10 —We consider that the exemption in respect of life insurance premiums should be extended to cover premiums paid to effect insurance on the life of any male member of a Hindu undivided family or of his wife or minor child

Clause 12 —We do not consider that the agricultural income of a wife or minor child derived from land jointly owned with the husband or father as the case may be should be deemed to be the agricultural income of the latter

CHAPTER III

Clause 13 —This clause has been merged in clause 15

Clause 14 —The proviso to this clause has been incorporated in the new clause 15A The other changes are of purely drafting nature

Clause 15 —The changes are consequential on the deletion of clause 13

Clause 15A —In this new clause we have redrafted and expanded the proviso to clause 14

Clause 16 —This is consequential on our subsequent recommendations in the Schedule

Clause 17 —The deleted portion of this clause has been transferred to Chapter VI

Clause 20 —The alteration here is of a drafting nature to make the intention more clear

CHAPTER IV

We have placed clauses 21 and 21A into a separate chapter This we think, improves the arrangement

Clause 21A —We have introduced the Appellate Tribunal to provide for better and more facilities of appeal

CHAPTER IVA

Clause 22 has been omitted as unnecessary

Clause 24 —In sub clause (1) we have made the intention more precise

In sub clause (4) we have added a proviso so that the time for submission of accounts or documents may be extended We have omitted the second portion of the existing proviso which is unnecessary

Clause 25—We have extended the scope of sub clause (5) for obvious reasons

Clause 28—We consider that the provisions of this clause should apply to companies also and that the notice period in sub clause (2) should be extended to thirty days The other changes are either consequential or of a drafting nature

Clause 28A—We have thought it necessary to introduce this new clause to provide for cases of change of constitution of a firm and other cases of succession

Clause 29—We have provided that for the purposes of this clause the Assessing Officer must accept the decree of a competent civil court or an amicably executed document of partition which has been acted upon

Clause 34—In sub clause (1) we have provided for the communication to the assessee of an order fixing the date and place of hearing passed in his absence We have deleted the second proviso to sub clause (4) as we consider it unnecessary

Sub clause (5) is consequential

Clause 35—We have deleted this clause as we do not think that such wide powers of revision by the Commissioner are necessary in view of the introduction of the Appellate Tribunal and we have inserted a new clause providing for a second appeal to the Appellate Tribunal

Clause 35A—We have thought it necessary to provide for this limited power of revision by the Commissioner

Clause 36—We consider that the limitation period should be four years in all cases under this clause We think that the second proviso to sub clause (1) is unnecessary

CHAPTER V

Clause 42—We have made provision so that the assessee may apply for extension of time as soon as he has presented the appeal We have also made provision for grant of instalments on certain conditions

Clause 43—We have reduced the maximum penalty to a sum equal to half the arrears In sub clause (4) we have also provided for a period of limitation to recovery proceedings

CHAPTER VI

Clause 46—The second portion of clause 17 has been merged in clause 46 We have in sub clause (5) provided for the manner of determining the total world income The other changes are of a drafting nature

Clauses 47 and 48—As the scope of the Bill is limited to income (1) derived exclusively from lands and (2) originating exclusively within Bengal we are of opinion (1) that any provision for relief of double taxation is not appropriate to the measure and (2) that the responsibility for relief of double taxation if any is on the other country which goes in for taxing agricultural income arising in Bengal We have therefore deleted both the clauses

CHAPTER VII

Clause 52—In sub clause (2) we have reduced the maximum daily fine to rupees five only The other alterations have been necessitated by our recommendations in the earlier clauses

CHAPTER VIII

Clause 56—We consider it desirable to restrict the Provincial Government's power to make rules for the ascertainment and determination of agricultural income

Clause 57—Sub-clause (2)(i)—We did not think it necessary to restrict this to the Scheduled Banks

Sub-clause (2) (iv)—We did not think that the definition should be restricted as in the Bill We have therefore made provision so that it might be so made as to suit all cases

Sub-clause (3)—Dismissal from Government service should not be considered as a disqualification for practice in the Agricultural Income tax Courts and we have accordingly amended the sub clause

We have provided for appeal to the High Court instead of to the Board of Revenue

Clause 59—Sub clause (2) —We considered it essential that the notice in the case of a Hindu undivided family should be addressed to the manager The other change is purely of a drafting character

Clause 60 —We have placed the question of place of assessment as much beyond dispute as possible In the case of companies firm or other association of individuals it is either the registered office or the place where its accounts are kept In other cases it is the place of residence of the assessee or his agent but the assessee has an option to be assessed at the place where his accounts are kept provided that that place is in Bengal

SCHEDULE

A(2) —We have raised the exemption limit to Rs 3 500 We have also introduced an alternative exemption limit of sixty standard bighas of land in certain cases The other changes are consequential or are of drafting nature

B —The change is of a drafting nature

Joint Minute of Dissent by Mr Dhirendra Nath Dutta, M L A, and Mr D N Mukherji, M L A

We beg to sign the report subject to the following note of dissent and we also reserve the right of moving any amendments that may be thought necessary

We are of opinion that additional income is necessary by imposing a tax on agricultural income but the income derived therefrom should be reserved for improvement of agriculture and hence in the preamble of the Bill after the words revenues of Bengal the following words should be inserted — to be applied solely for improvement of agriculture or for projects connected with agricultural improvements

There is no reason why should there be any differential treatment as between an assessee who derives his income from rent or revenue and an assessee who derives his income from cultivation and so sub clause (2) of clause 6 should be in line with sub clause (3) of clause 7 as both deal with interest on mortgage or other borrowed capital and therefore we are of opinion that sub clause (2) of clause 6 should be as worded as sub clause (3) of clause 7 is

An assessee from cultivation should also enjoy benefit of Explanation to the word Maintenance and hence we are of opinion that after sub clause (5) of clause 7 an Explanation in the same language as it is found in Explanation to sub clause (4) of clause 6 should be inserted

Minute of Dissent by Mr Ahmed Ali Mridha, M L A

I sign the report subject to the following note of dissent —

I am of opinion that—

(1) Sub clause (2) of clause 6 shall be the same as sub clause (3) of clause 7

(2) The concluding word thereto in sub clause (b) of clause 4 shall be substituted by the words for the aforesaid purposes

(3) In the explanation under clause 4 the following shall be added —

In the case of wakf alal awlad— maintenance of the members of the family of donors shall be deemed to be within the scope of religious and charitable purpose

(4) Income derived shall be reserved for improvement of agriculture within the province

Minute of Dissent by Kazi Emdadul Haque, M L A

The Agricultural Income tax Act is not a war measure It is a permanent measure with a far reaching character we must therefore see that the money available be utilised properly In fact unless the money can be fully utilised for the advancement of agriculture in the land this measure to my mind appears to be unsupportable I therefore suggest that the preamble must contain provision to that effect

Joint Minute of Dissent by Mr H Rowan Hodge, M L A, and Mr C W Miles, M L A

1 There are a number of amendments to the Bill by the Select Committee which we are unable to support and we therefore reserve the right to move and support such amendments in the Legislative Assembly as we may deem advisable

2 The scale of tax set out in the schedule makes it clear in conformity with most scales of income tax that individuals with the larger incomes are to pay proportionately more tax than those with the smaller incomes In addition the Bill allows special privileges to persons with smaller incomes e g by raising the lower limit of taxation to Rs 3,000 by exempting altogether agriculturists with only sixty bighas of land and by allowing other individual and joint family agriculturists even working their land with hired labour fifty per cent as the cost of producing the income but zemindars are not to be entitled to the full cost of collecting their rents In further contrast share holders partners and members of associations by reason of restricted refunds are to suffer tax at rates higher than those imposed by the schedule and they as well as companies and firms, are also to be exposed to the risk of double income tax

In the result the Bill clearly throws more than the fair burden of the tax on to agricultural income connected with business particularly where the business is controlled from outside British India notably from the United Kingdom

3 For the purpose of this minute we are content to deal only with a few clauses to which we attach particular importance

4 Clause 2(1)(a) —The words 'in British India in the definition borrowed from the Indian Income tax Act 1922 have been retained we understand to enable assessments to be made regarding land in Bengal which is assessed to land revenue outside the Province To that we have no objection but a view has been expressed by certain officials that it would be within the competence of the Province under this form of definition by amendment hereafter to expand the field of taxation by taxing agricultural income from land outside the Province by adopting the residence basis or the accrual basis We are strongly opposed to any such expansion of the field of taxation which we believe to be ultra vires the Provincial Government and we consider the definition should be brought into line with the Assam and Bihar Agricultural Income tax Acts by substituting the name of the Province for the words British India

5 Clause 2(15) —We see no justification for enlarging the definition of total world income beyond even that comprised in the Indian Income tax Act and we refer to this again in connection with refunds under clause 46

6 Clauses 6 and 7 —The scheme of computation is based on collections but as regards allowances only actual payments made in the year of assessment are to be allowed which is contrary to the principle of taxation adopted by the Indian Income tax Act even where the cash method of accounting is adopted This will mean in the first years after the Act comes into operation that arrears which may be collected in those years will be taxed thus virtually giving retrospective effect to the tax but expenditure paid out in respect of such earlier collections will not be allowed as a deduction unless it has been paid out in the actual year when the arrears were collected The Bill thus has retrospective effect and in addition the tax payer may even be deprived of the allowances

7 Clause 6(6) —We do not consider it reasonable when actual expenditure can be proved to limit collection charges to 17½ per cent to include also the cost of maintenance of latcharies and other capital assets and any expense of litigation

8 Clause 7(3) and (6) —We do not consider it reasonable to deprive agriculturists of the allowances for mortgage interest and depreciation in the manner in which these clauses have been amended

9 Clause 24(4) —We are opposed to the amendment to the second proviso as we see no purpose in permitting the Agricultural Income tax Officer to require production of accounts in the case of tea income when such production is already permitted to the Indian Income tax Officer in making the Central assessment

10 Clause 46 —Notwithstanding the revision of this clause the characteristic of calculating the refund by reference to the total world income is still retained In the result share holders partners and members of associations will suffer tax at rates considerably higher than other tax payers under the Bill and by enlarging the definition of total world income [clause 2(15)] the refunds to be had will be even smaller than as contemplated by the original Bill It should not be overlooked that the object of taxing the company firm or association instead of individual members is merely to facilitate tax collection The revenue has thus been overpaid at the expense of the tax payer until adjustment is had by refunds The tax payers should be in a position to get an adjustment so that in the final result he is not suffering tax at higher rates than anyone else The basis of assessment is total Bengal agricultural income and this should be the basis upon which refunds are to be granted Even so the revenue will make out of the taxation at the source basis since many people will never make refund applications

11 Clauses 47 and 48 —We do not consider it equitable to have deleted these clauses It is universally accepted that the subject should not suffer double income tax on the same income Whilst we understand and appreciate the arguments set out in the Select Committee Report it should be remembered that Bengal is entering upon the legislative field with a taxation measure when a variety of other schemes of income tax of other Governments are already in existence some of which already charge tax on the Bengal agricultural income To ignore this is to inflict double taxation As regards the United Kingdom (clause 48) where the relief is given first by His Majesty s Government on present rates no refund claims can possibly arise against the Bengal Treasury The deletion of this clause is thus not designed to save anything for the Bengal Treasury but appears merely to record that the Bengal Legislature will not co operate in the Empire scheme for reciprocal relief We consider that both clauses should be restored If the Bengal Government find hereafter that the Empire scheme is inequitable representations may be made through the proper channels to His Majesty s Government for a revision of the scheme Meanwhile the tax payer should not be exposed to the risk of double taxation

Minute of Dissent by Rai Harendranath Chaudhuri, M L A

I am sorry I cannot agree with the report of the Select Committee as it stands and the points of my disagreement and the reasons for the changes I still consider necessary are given below

1 In the all embracing and unrelieved crisis through which Bengal has been passing and the like of which has not been witnessed since 1770 she can hardly bear the burden of a new taxation on a major scale much less a tax on her agricultural income and particularly on the income derived from rent Those who are not ignorant of the provisions of the Bengal Tenancy Act are aware that agricultural income derived from rent paid by tenure holders and raiyats is absolutely inelastic and cannot have increased at all on account of the present rise in the prices of agricultural commodities Such income if it cannot be said to have deteriorated in value with the fallen rupee has not certainly increased in amount with the present inflation whatever may be the position of "mixed incomes that have direct connection with the markets ruled by the War The imposition of such a tax therefore to balance budgets heavily unbalanced by expenditure due to the war most of which again ought to be Central burden is not only unjust in the present circumstances but an unjustifiable dissipation of resources that may be drawn upon on return of normal times for purposes of post war reconstruction in the Province Recently the Bengal Government brought out a Commission to examine the existing land revenue system of the Province and to report whether it was advisable to acquire all the superior interests in agricultural land The Commission in recommending the abolition of what is called the Zamindari system (involving the interests of all but the actual cultivators) also observed that—

> We should prefer an agricultural income tax to be imposed as a transitional measure until the scheme of State acquisition is effected or as a permanent measure if Government consider that State acquisition should not be undertaken for financial or other reasons We are strongly of opinion that if agricultural income tax is imposed it should be applied solely for the improvement of agriculture or for projects connected with agricultural improvement

If such was the strong recommendation of the Commission before all talk of post war reconstruction came to be indulged in and the present crisis disclosed the necessity of larger food production in the province subsequent events must have lent additional strength to that recommendation and consistently with it the proceeds of the agricultural income tax should have gone to finance expenditure for agricultural improvement and the preamble should have been amended accordingly But the Committee was not permitted to make the amendment Will the Legislature be enabled to do so? If not it should be made a short term emergency measure

2 The provisions of the Bill have undergone considerable revision but the following amendments still appear to me necessary —

(i) The definition of agricultural income in clause 2(1) should be made more explicit by adding an explanation that the word cultivator includes a producer who does not cultivate lands himself but carries on agricultural work by paid labourers It is said that the definition given in the Indian Income tax Act 1922 must be regarded as sacrosanct and that an exact copy of it must appear in the Bengal Act If the word revenue in the definition of agricultural income is given in the Indian Act could be changed to income and the words cess collected under any Bengal Act introduced with impunity in the Bihar Act if the Assam Act could add a big explanation regarding tea to the definition of the Indian Act without doing any mischief certainly any addition which merely clarifies the meaning or states the dictionary meaning of a word in the aforesaid definition cannot do any harm After the decision of the Patna High Court in Thilak Prasad's case (I L R Patna XX p 573) a verbal change which does not extend the field of taxation cannot reasonably be opposed On the contrary omission to state the dictionary meaning the whole meaning of the word cultivator may leave a lacuna and make a narrow interpretation of the word cultivator possible and the word may well be construed to mean an actual tiller or a raiyat who cultivates his lands himself and not a person who raises or plants crops by employing hired labour

(ii) It is unfortunate that in defining agricultural income in clause 4 of the Bill while the two exceptions have been taken from section 4(3) of the Indian Income tax Act receipts of a casual and non recurring nature have not been excluded from the category of income as they have been in item (vii) in the said section of the Indian Income tax Act The result will be that such receipts will come to be taxed under the scheme of agricultural income tax while they are excluded in clear terms under the existing scheme of non agricultural income tax in this country

(iii) In clause 4 agricultural income derived from properties held under trust for charitable purposes has been excluded from the category of income On the same ground amounts spent for charitable purposes should also be excluded in the calculation of total income at any rate such amounts should be deducted in computing assessable income and some amendment on that line is necessary either to clause 4 or to clauses 6 and 7

(iv) In clause 6 of the Bill even as revised by the Select Committee it has been proposed to allow 15 per cent as cost of collection including expenses of litigation and maintenance of katchari or any other capital asset The Land Revenue Commission recommended that in buying up the properties 18 per cent should be deducted as collection charges There can be no justification therefore for not allowing collection charge at that rate in computing assessable income simply because the properties now remain with the owners The collection charges under the management of the Court of Wards have it is said risen now to more than 20 per cent To avoid all controversy about the correct percentage in this matter and yet to do justice in those cases where larger percentage of such charges is required provision should have been made for the allowance of all expenditure actually incurred for earning the income as has been made in section 12 of the Indian Income tax Act The Privy Council in its judgment in Raja Pravat Chandra Barua's case (34 C W N p 1017) expressed the view that if agricultural income had not been excepted in the Indian Income tax Act the income from zemindaries would have been taxed under section 12 of the Act and in that section allowance is made for any expenditure incurred solely for the purpose of making or earning such income If actual expenditure for management collection litigation and repairs be not deducted in determining the assessable income then the injustice of taxing notional income which all income tax measures seek in fairness to avoid will be done That in the revised clause an extra 2½ per cent has been allowed in cases where accounts are audited in the prescribed manner can only benefit the Wards Estates or those few who keep their accounts as they are kept in mercantile business but it cannot be available to the generality of assessees who keep their accounts in the traditional manner and cannot easily have their accounts audited

(v) Sub clause (4) of clause 25 appears to make an undue exception The powers referred to are powers to assess the agricultural income and determine the tax It cannot be said from the legal point of view that such assessment and determination will not have to be made at all in cases coming under section 8(2) Only the discretion that is vested in the income-tax officer in sub-clause (1) is practically taken away by sub-clause (4) and the discretion is vested not even in the Assistant Commissioner but the Commissioner, yet the income-tax officer will be the assessing officer in the eye of law. He will have to do the work of assessment and determine the tax on his own responsibility at least in the case contemplated in Explanation (ii) of section 8(2). When there is provision of appeal even in such cases sub-clause (1) should be deleted.

(ii) In sub-clause (5) of revised clause 5 which lays down separately the allowances to be made in the computation of agricultural income from agriculture, while a premium has been put on cultivation by bargadars and hired labourers, the allowance in respect of interest on mortgage has been unfairly cut down to interest on pre-Bill mortgages and to that on future borrowings for the benefit of the land. Why interest on mortgages executed for other legitimate purposes, viz., for the benefit of the owner of the landed interest or to enable him to discharge his family obligation should not be allowed for where the only or principal asset of the generality of [illegible] is land it is very difficult to appreciate. In the case of non-agricultural income the Indian Income-tax Act permits such deductions irrespective of the question of improvement of houses or landed properties [vide section 9(1)]. It is unfair to treat agricultural income from landed properties in a different manner.

(iii) Where any rectification under clause 7 of the Bill has the effect of enhancing the assessment, no provision has been made for appeal against such a rectification if improper. The order for such rectification should be made appealable just as an appeal will lie against assessment under the provisions of the Act.

3. But in spite of all the improvements that may have been effected in the provisions of the Bill in the Select Committee the Bill remains the same burdensome measure as it was introduced when the schedule with its high rate remains unchanged. For the first time agricultural income-tax is going to be imposed in Bengal and yet it is the highest rate that has yet been devised for the purpose of such a provincial measure. The consideration and care with which the Government of Bihar moved in enacting the Bihar Agricultural Income-tax Law ought to have influenced the Bengal Government particularly at such an exceptionally hard time in the history of Bengal, and both the taxable limit and the schedule of rates in the Bihar Agricultural Income-tax Act ought to have been adopted with probably a preference for the two lowest grades of taxable income. In accordance with the scheme adopted even in the revised Bill agricultural income ranging between R[illegible]00 and Rs. [illegible]000 will be taxed when the consumer's burden has so much increased in Bengal. While income above Rs. 10,000 will have to pay considerably higher, in some cases even 50 per cent higher tax here in Bengal than similar income in Bihar and even twice higher than those prevailing in Assam with its large tea concerns. To say that the rates adopted have been similar to those applied to non-agricultural income by the Central Act is to forget not only that the present Indian income-tax has a long history of growth behind it but also the obvious and wide difference between non-agricultural and agricultural income. While the former is much more elastic than the latter, the latter bears a great public burden and is really the residue that remains after meeting the first charge of revenue or rent and as such is deserving of greater consideration.

Minute of Dissent by Maharajadhiraja Udaychand Mahtab Bahadur of Burdwan, M.L.A.

In submitting this Note of Dissent I am to record my basic opposition to the imposition of income-tax on agricultural income especially when the province of Bengal is in the midst of unprecedented economic crisis. The necessity of the imposition of income-tax on agricultural income is very weak in Bengal, the more so when the tax is proposed for the balancing of the provincial budget to cover expenses owing to the war. It is well known that the incomes of persons derived from agricultural rents are inelastic and that they cannot enjoy any slice of benefit from the general rise in the prices of agricultural produce; moreover their purchasing power has definitely gone down because of the shooting rise in the cost of living. The Bengal Land Revenue Commission 1938-40 examined the land system in all its details and recommended an agricultural income-tax as a transitional measure until the scheme of State acquisition is effected, and it was definitely of the opinion that the tax on agricultural income should be applied solely for the improvement of agriculture or for projects connected with agricultural improvement. The preamble to the Bill should therefore be amended with a view to earmarking its proceeds for the improvement of agriculture.

I append my signature to the Report of the Select Committee subject to the following observations:—

(1) As agricultural income derived from buildings is exempted from the scope of the Act sub-clause (c) of clause (1) of section 2 should be deleted. It is necessary to narrow down the definition of "agricultural income" and the Provincial Legislature is competent to do so.

(2) The purpose of a taxing statute is not to dismember the new property but to take away a slice of its income for public purposes. The fixation of a high rate of taxation will encourage the tendency to the partitioning of estates. The rate of agricultural income-tax is rather high especially in view of the fact that Bengal has the largest number of middle tenures with low assessable incomes. As the Act is going to affect prejudicially the middle classes of Bengal it is expedient and desirable in the interests of the [illegible] basis of class relations that the rate of income-tax on agricultural income should not be high. The rate may start with six pies in the rupee making the slabs more steep like the Bihar Agricultural Income-tax Act with a view to ensuring fair dealings to the assessees. The Hindu undivided family will suffer greatly if a sufficiently lower rate is not fixed.

(3) It is to be made clear in the definition of "total agricultural income" that receipts of a casual and non-recurring nature do not fall within the category of income.

(4) Clause (8) of section 6 may not cover the following allowances —

(a) the amount of any annual charge not being a capital charge in respect of such land

(b) any sum paid by the assessee as interest in the previous year on loans for payment of land revenue or rent and any local rate or cess in respect of such land

(c) the amount of penalty paid by the assessee in the previous year on the arrears of land revenue

(d) the amount spent by the assessee for charitable purposes

Under the Indian Income tax Act the amount of interest paid in respect of capital borrowed for the purpose of business is deducted. The amount of interest paid in respect of capital borrowed for the payment of revenue or rent or local rate or local cess is fundamental for carrying on the business of agriculture and as such it should be expressly deducted. It will stifle private charities if the amounts spent for charitable purposes are not deducted in respect of ascertainment of assessable income.

(5) The Select Committee have drawn a sharp line of distinction between agricultural income from rent or revenue and agricultural income from agriculture. To students of social science this distinction is significant but for the purpose of assessment both the grades of income falling under the category of agricultural income from land should be dealt with as one unit. A very liberal computation of allowances has been provided for in section 7 in the matter of agricultural income from agriculture. Take the case of an individual cultivating land with the aid of hired labourers. He is entitled to the following allowances:

(a) A sum equal to 50 per cent of the market value of the produce raised from such land

(b) Land revenue or rent

(c) Any local rate or cess

(d) The amount of interest in respect of mortgage or charge created on or before the 1st of September 1941 for the benefit of such land

(e) Any sum paid as interest on loan under the Agricultural Loan Act 1884 or the Land Improvement Act 1883

(f) Any expense on the maintenance of irrigation or protective work

(g) Depreciation in respect of any irrigation or protective work or other capital asset

(h) Any premium for insurance against loss of or damage to such land or crop

(i) The amount by which the written down value of the machinery or plant exceed the amount for which the machinery or plant is actually sold or its scrap value

(j) Any other necessary expenditure except capital expenditure or personal expenditure

Section 6 read together with section 7 illustrates that an individual who is not a rent receiver but a farmer carrying on his business with the aid of hired labourer can easily produce a statement of accounts with a view to exempting him from the scope of taxation even though he has factually an assessable income. This special concession to individual carrying on agriculture with the aid of hired labourers will lead to the discouragement of the bhag system ensuring common partnership of landlords and tenants in the task of agriculture. This taxing statute will thus indirectly lead to further levelling down of agricultural labour displacing the produce rent and the cash rent tenancy. It is an accepted maxim with which we are in agreement that actual tillers should be given all kinds of encouragement and protection to pursue their sacred task of cultivation but all that falls within the scope of tenancy legislation. A taxing statute should treat similarly situated persons alike and if it discriminates it leads to undesirable repercussions.

It is further apprehended that should such arrangement be sanctioned in law the rent receiving community may be loaded with further burdens to make up the losses consequential on the evasion of individuals carrying on agriculture with the aid of hired labourers. This is inexpedient and unfair.

(6) The Appellate Tribunal as envisaged in section 21A should consist of persons having knowledge and experience so that the confidence of the assessee may be ensured. Accordingly the lawyer member should be strictly recruited from barristers or advocates of the High Court practising professionally for a period of not less than ten years. The period of five years as suggested will help junior practitioners to be a member of the Tribunal which will not be helpful for the end of justice. A pleader or an agricultural income tax practitioner may be found lacking in experience necessary for judicial determination and as such it is better that they should be debarred from membership of the Tribunal.

The period of appointment of any member of the Tribunal should not be left to the discretion of the Provincial Government which may give legitimate grounds of complaint. The period should be for five years the sitting members being entitled to reappointment. Much too interference by the Provincial Government with the determination of the period of a member of the Tribunal would seek to impair his independence so necessary in a Tribunal of the kind contemplated in section 21A.

The procedure of the Appellate Tribunal should as far as possible follow the provisions of the Civil Procedure Code.

(7) In sub-clause (a) of clause 2 of section 57 it is left to the Provincial Government to prescribe the necessary educational qualifications of an agricultural income tax practitioner. Any person who does not hold a degree in law of any Indian University should not be allowed to be an agricultural income tax practitioner. It will spell injustice to the assessees if persons without adequate training are given permission to practise before any agricultural income tax authority.

Minute of Dissent by Mr Abdul Latif Biswas, M L A

1. I cannot accept with a sense of satisfaction the definition of Hindu Undivided Family as given by the Select Committee by adding sub-clause (ia) to clause 2. The definition has restricted the meaning of Hindu Undivided Family by excluding Hindu Undivided Family governed by Dayabhaga Law from the purview of this definition and including only Hindu Undivided Family governed by Mitakshara Law within its scope. This restricted meaning of Hindu Undivided Family is open to much mischief in the matter of assessing agricultural income-tax inasmuch as this meaning will help the escape from taxation of agricultural income derived from the properties standing in the name of the karta of a Hindu Undivided Family governed by Dayabhaga Law which (income) is otherwise assessable falling within taxable limit, as the karta of such a family availing himself of the restricted meaning of Hindu Undivided Family which has left the Hindu Undivided Families governed by Dayabhaga Law outside its scope may and as a matter of fact will plead that his family is not a Hindu Undivided Family within the meaning of the definition and as such though the agricultural income of the properties standing in his name as the karta of the family falls within taxable limit will not be assessable when shown divided in respective shares among his family members who have right, title and interest in those properties. It will not be fair that such a family which enjoys and derives all the advantages of a Hindu Undivided Family and is recognised as such by Hindu Law will escape this taxation taking its stand on the restricted meaning of the definition. This to me it seems is against the spirit of the proposed legislation. I am strongly of opinion that Hindu Undivided Family should be defined to mean all Hindu Undivided Families whether governed by Mitakshara or Dayabhaga Law.

2. I disagree with the opinion of the majority by which the words "or finally set apart for application" in the 6th and 7th lines of sub-clause (b) of clause 4 have been deleted. By this decision it has been provided that when a property is held in part under trust for religious or charitable purpose or in the case of a Muslim trust commonly known as Wakf-al-al-aulad that portion of the income which has been finally set apart for the application to religious or charitable purpose but has not been actually spent within the year will not be exempted from taxation. There should be no such distinction. There may be various factors which may stand in the way of speedy application of that portion of income. But for that reason money meant for religious and charitable purposes should not be subject to this taxation.

3. I hold that the allowance of a sum equal to fifteen per cent of the total rent or revenue which accrued to him in the previous year in case of an assessee who cannot produce his account audited and certified to be correct by an accountant and seventeen and one-half per cent maximum in case of an assessee who can produce such audited and certified account by way of the cost of collection of such rent or revenue including the maintenance of any kachari or other capital assets and any expenses of litigation is unreasonable and unfair and it appears to be high and excessive. In any case this allowance should never exceed a sum higher than twelve and one-half per cent of the total rent or revenue accrued to the assessee in the previous year and if the assessee works economically and maintains strict supervision over his staff he may keep such cost within ten per cent. Another fact should be considered in this connection. When a decree is passed the decree-holder gets his legal cost and if a landlord loses a case instituted against his tenant it may fairly be presumed that he had recourse to litigation as a part of luxury or oppressive measure to teach his tenant a good lesson. In case he wins he gets his legal cost and if he loses it may be said that his litigation was the outcome of his whim and caprice and in both the cases these expenses should not be taken into account when any allowance is made by any income-tax officer. I am further of opinion that there should not be any distinction between an assessee who can produce his account audited and certified to be true by an accountant and an assessee who cannot produce such audited account.

4. The proviso to sub-clause (1) of clause 7 has allowed a sum equal to fifty per cent of the market value of the produce raised from the land as the cost of cultivation in respect of all agricultural income derived from land referred to in sub-clause (b) of clause 1 of section 2 in case of an individual or Hindu Undivided Family only whose primary means of livelihood is agriculture and whose source of agricultural income is land possessed by such individual or family and cultivated by such individual or by the members of such family with or without the aid of hired labourers. This proviso has limited the scope of allowance only to those individuals or Hindu Undivided Family whose primary means of livelihood is agriculture and whose source of agricultural income is land only. I think this has treated very badly and harshly other persons whose primary means of livelihood is not agriculture and whose sources of agricultural income is not land. This presumptive cost of cultivation has been allowed I believe on the ground that it is difficult on the part of the cultivator to keep account of the expenditure proposed to be allowed under sub-clause (1) (i), (ii), (iii) and (iv) of clause 7. Why a sum equal to 50 per cent of the market value of the produce raised from land has been proposed to be allowed as a presumptive cost of cultivation instead of some other per cent will be found in the fact that throughout the province of Bengal the bargadars or adhiars keep one half of the produce raised from the land under their barga cultivation as cost of such cultivation and give the other half to the owners of the land and that other half is the agricultural income from land. If the owner of a land when it is given in barga gets one half of the produce as his hire which will be construed to be his agricultural income from that land and the other half falling in the share of the bargadar is taken as the cost of cultivation, I do not find any reason why one half of the produce raised from land kept in owner's cultivation instead of giving it in barga will not be allowed as cost of cultivation only because the primary means of livelihood of such owner is not agriculture and his only source of agricultural income is not land possessed by him and cultivated by such owner with or without the aid of hired labourers. The proviso may in it have magic but it certainly lacks in logic. In all fairness the presumptive cost should be allowed to all whether their primary means of livelihood is agriculture or not and whether their only source of agricultural income is from land or otherwise.

5. I disagree with the provision contained in sub-clause (a)(i) and (ii) of clause 12 of the Bill in which it has been provided that the total agricultural income of a wife or a minor child from the property transferred by the husband or the parent as the case may be in favour of wife or minor child otherwise than for adequate consideration shall be included into the agricultural income of such husband or parent. Here the adequacy or otherwise of the consideration has been considered to show the bona fide or mala fide of the transaction. One fact has been lost sight of and it is this that in spite of the inadequacy of the consideration a transaction may be bona fide and valid transferring the right, title and interest to the transferee. An instance of Muslim Hibabil Ewaj may be cited. A gift of a large property in exchange of a copy of the Holy Koran or a tasbi may be made and in this case though the consideration is inadequate and meagre the transaction is valid resulting in the transfer of right, title and interest from the donor to the donee. So I do not find any reason why the agricultural income from a property received from the husband or of the minor child from the property received from a parent by this sort of transfer though the consideration is inadequate will be included into the agricultural income of the husband or the parent as the case may be. The criterion should be whether the transfer is valid or not. In case of valid transfer to the wife or a minor child such income should not be included into the income of the husband or a parent as the case may be.

6. One word regarding the proviso (ii) of the schedule where it has been provided that a person possessing sixty standard bighas of land with some condition contained therein should be exempted from assessment. I think that this exception is made to save the illiterate cultivators from the difficulties of submitting the return complicated in its nature when their agricultural income falls below the assessable limit. If that is the reason exception should be made with regard to one hundred standard bigha of land instead of sixty standard bighas as the probable agricultural income in normal time of one hundred standard bighas is not likely to reach the assessable limit.

Minute of Dissent by Mr Shahed Ali, M L A

So far the preamble of the Bengal Agricultural Income-tax Bill is concerned there is no mention how the money accrued from this taxation will be utilised. It was the view of many members of the Select Committee that the entire income should be earmarked for improvement of the productivity of soil and condition of the agriculturist. It was ruled out that it is not within the scope of the Select Committee to change the preamble as outlined above as they are concerned only with taxation but not with appropriation. It is the power of the Legislature to cancel, modify or alter it. With these words I draw the attention of the members of both the Houses of Legislature to this aspect of the Bill.

In the Explanation of clause 4(b) there is no definition of Charitable purpose. Charitable purpose should also include all the trust obligation and wakf recognised by Muhammadan Law. As such all the wakfs including Wakf-ul-Aulad should have found place in clause 4(b) of the present Bill.

In computing the total agricultural income the simple Heba, Heba-bil-Ewaj or Heba-bil-Shart should have been taken into serious consideration by the Committee. In clause 12 of the Bill all the hebas or gifts or obligations otherwise than with adequate consideration will be included for the purpose of assessment. By this provision we come into direct conflict with the provision of Muhammadan Law. The transfer by heba are equally valid and binding as transfer for consideration.

I do not see any earthly reason why this should be included for the purpose of taxation alone.

The taxable unit under this Bill should have been Rs 4,000 instead of Rs 3,500.

BENGAL

Name of officer and rank—Reginald Albert Parker, District Officer, Calcutta Fire Brigade—Statement of services for which the decoration has been awarded—While a fire was being fought in the hold of a ship in the Calcutta docks on the night of the 24th/25th November 1943 a fireman slipped and fell into the hold breaking an arm and dislocating a shoulder Despite a considerable volume of heat flames and fumes and continual explosions of small arms ammunition District Officer Parker immediately descended into the hold and at a great risk to himself succeeded in bringing the fireman to safety His conduct in this operation was characterised by great bravery

Name of officer and rank—Percival John Holden, District Officer, Calcutta Fire Brigade—Statement of services for which the decoration has been awarded—In the later stages of fire fighting three fire officers were trapped by flames in the hold and were partly overcome by fumes District Officer Holden managed to lower a length of hose down to them and by doubling it and hanging precariously over the hatch way he enabled these 3 officers who were partly unconscious to be pulled to safety At considerable risk to himself he tended each one of them as they came out and his conduct was particularly meritorious as he might himself have been cut off by flames which were rapidly gaining round on his side of the hold
